ROK-KAU 2026 KOREA'S FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME ON GLOBAL AVIATION POLICY

The Authority wishes to inform eligible public sector employees and qualified private sector personnel working in the aviation industry of an opportunity to apply for the ROK-KAU 2026 Korea Fellowship Programme on Global Aviation Policy, an international postgraduate training programme organized by Korea Aerospace University in collaboration with the Government of the Republic of Korea.

The programme will commence from August 2026 to December 2027 and will lead to the award of a Master of Science in Aviation Policy. It is designed to strengthen the capacity of aviation professionals by providing advanced knowledge and practical skills in aviation policy, aviation management, and airport operations within the global aviation sector.

The programme will be conducted in English; therefore, applicants must possess a good command of the language to effectively participate in all academic and programme activities. The fellowship provides full sponsorship, including tuition fees, round-trip airfare, accommodation, a monthly stipend, and health insurance.

Eligibility: Eligible public sector employees and qualified private sector personnel are encouraged to submit their applications in accordance with the prescribed eligibility requirements, application procedures, and timelines provided in the programme guidelines.

The deadline for application submission is 28 June, 2026.

For further information on the fellowship programme, including eligibility requirements and application procedures, please refer to the following website: kau.ac.kr

Issued on 11th June, 2026.
